Part I Collocations
1 Introduction to Part I	3
2 First orientation	5
2.1 Collocation: a definition	5
2.2 Illustration of the definition	6
2.3 A note on the history of the term 'collocation'	7
2.4 Collocations and other fixed expressions	8
2.5 Concluding remarks	11
3 Lexical items	13
3.1 Collocations across categories	13
3.2 Collocations below the word level	20
3.3 Collocations above the word level	21
3.4 Polarity sensitivities as collocational restrictions	22
3.5 Concluding remarks: the lexical items in collocations	24
4 The nature of collocational restrictions	25
4.1 Reduction to syntax	25
4.2 Reduction to semantics	27
4.3 Reduction to statistics	31
4.4 Reducing everything to collocational behaviour	35
4.5 A separate level	36
4.6 Listing all collocations	38
4.7 On having no head	40
4.8 Concluding remarks: what are collocational restrictions?	43
5 Combinability	45
5.1 The scalar character of collocational behaviour	45
5.2 Hapax legomena	46

5.3 Collocations proper	46
5.4 Restrictions that are too strong	48
5.5 The interplay of constraints	49
5.6 Concluding remarks: types of constraints	49
6 The idiosyncrasy of collocations	51
7 Summary and concluding remarks	54

Part II Polarity items

1 Introduction to Part II	59
2 The characterization and classification of polarity items	64
2.1 An etymological classification	64
2.2 Syntactic classifications	65
2.3 Semantic-pragmatic classifications and explanations	69
2.4 Concluding remarks	80
3 What is a negative context?	81
3.1 Syntactic approaches	83
3.2 Pragmatic approaches	85
3.3 Semantic approaches	89
3.4 Concluding remarks	92
4 Degrees of negativity	93
4.1 Negations weak and strong	93
4.2 Boolean properties	94
4.3 Downward monotonicity and degrees of negativity	104
4.4 Concluding remarks	110
5 Negations and polarity items: towards a classification	112
5.1 Polarity items and monotone decreasing contexts	113
5.2 Polarity items and anti-additive contexts	117
5.3 Polarity items and antimorphic contexts	123
5.4 A semantic classification of polarity items	130
5.5 Bipolar elements	131
5.6 Where is antimultiplicativity?	134
5.7 A note on the situation in other languages	141
5.8 Concluding remarks	144
6 Negative contexts and downward monotonicity	146
6.1 Grammatical PPIs in negative contexts	146
6.2 Ungrammatical NPIs in negative contexts	148
6.3 Metalinguistic negation	149
6.4 Are all negative contexts downward monotonic?	151
6.5 Concluding remarks	163

7	Some remarks on scope	164
7.1	Scope: the basic facts	164
7.2	Scope extensions	166
7.3	Double negations again	169
7.4	Rule ordering?	171
7.5	Concluding remarks	173
8	Conclusion: polarity items	174

Part III Multiple negations

1	Introduction to Part III	179
2	Negative concord	182
2.1	Introduction	182
2.2	The contexts of negative concord	184
2.3	Context-sensitive semantics again	186
2.4	Negative spread: French	189
2.5	Negative doubling: Afrikaans	191
2.6	NC across clause boundaries: paratactic negation	196
2.7	Towards an explanation of paratactic negation	200
2.8	A theory of paratactic negation	204
2.9	Parametrizing negative concord	205
2.10	A note on negative concord in other languages	212
2.11	Concluding remarks	214
3	Weakening of negation: litotes	215
3.1	Introduction	215
3.2	Horn's analysis of litotes	216
3.3	More than negation	220
3.4	A note on scope	223
3.5	Litotes below the word level	224
3.6	Reconsidering the semantics and pragmatics of litotes	225
3.7	Litotes in various MD environments	228
3.8	Why litotes does not occur in certain types of MD contexts	233
3.9	Concluding remarks	235
4	Denial	236
4.1	Introduction	236
4.2	The functions of denial	237
4.3	More than negation: denial in Dutch	237
4.4	A new MD context	240
4.5	Concluding remarks	242
5	Emphatic negation	243
5.1	Introduction	243
5.2	Emphatic negation in Dutch	245

5.3 Resumptive negation	248
5.4 Various types of resumptive negation	249
5.5 The syntactic status of resumptive negation	257
5.6 More than negation	261
5.7 Concluding remarks	263
6 Conclusion	266
 Bibliography	 269
Index of lexical items	286
Index of names and subjects	290
